

Fuzhou	Climate	JAN	FEB	MAR	APR	MAY	JUN	JUL	AUG	SEP	OCT	NOV	DEC
	Average(°C)	10.5	10.7	13.4	18.2	22.1	25.5	28.5	28.2	26.0	21.7	17.5	13.1
	Rainfall(mm)	49.8	76.3	120.0	149.7	207.5	230.2	112.0	160.5	131.4	41.5	33.1	31.6
	Days	10.9	13.4	16.4	16.7	19.0	17.1	9.7	13.0	12.3	6.9	7.3	8.1

Fuzhou: City Guide

Fujian Province : Fuzhou

The capital of Fujian province, Fuzhou has been the political center of Fujian since the Qin Dynasty and was the temporary capital of China at the end of the Song and the Ming dynasties. It has also been an international port with foreign trade since Han Dynasty and was a ship making center during the Song Dynasty.

Neighboring Areas: Guangdong, Jiangxi, Zhejiang, and Taiwan provinces

Physical Features: consist of 3 mountains and 2 towers (Wu Tower, Bai Tower), with a plenty of hot springs

Population: 5.75 million
 Urban Population: 1.43 million
 Area: 11,968 sq km

Nationalities: Han, She, Hui, Miao, Manchu and Gaoshan

Climatic Features: subtropical humid monsoon climate with frost-free period of 280 days

Average Temperature: 16 to 23C annually, 6 to 14C in January, 21 to 31C in July

Rainfall: annual precipitation of 1000 mm, concentrated on May and June, usually with typhoon and rainstorm between summer and autumn

Mountains: Mt. Gushan (Drum Hill), Mt. Pingshan, Mt. Yushan and Mt. Wushan

Rivers: Baima River, Min River, Jin'an River and Xi Lake

Products: paddy rice, tea, sugarcane, cotton, hemp, tobacco, canola, earthnu tropical or subtropical

Fruits: longan, cirtrus, lichee, pineapple, shaddock

Local Highlights: Earth Towers of the Hakkas in Fujian, Min Drama; Jasmine Tea, Fuzhou Orange, delicious sea food

Fujian mussel traditional handcraft: Rongcheng 3 Treasures - Fuzhou lacquer ware without cast, umbrella, horn comb