

Sponsorship for a partner to migrate to Australia

This form 40SP is to be completed by the sponsor of persons applying for a partner visa either outside Australia or in Australia.

If the partner you are sponsoring is applying outside Australia, your partner will be applying to migrate. If your partner is applying in Australia, your partner will be applying for permanent residence. In this form, the term 'migrate' covers both.

For details on partner visa processing, see booklet 1, Partner Migration, which is available on the Department of Immigration and Multicultural and Indigenous Affairs (the department) website www.immi.gov.au/forms_booklets/index.htm or from any departmental office or Australian mission overseas. Further information on partner migration is available from www.immi.gov.au/migration/family/partners/index.htm or the department's enquiry line (see information box on page 4).

How to sponsor

You must ensure that you:

- are eligible to sponsor your partner (for example, you cannot sponsor if you are the holder of a Woman at Risk (subclass 204) visa or you are subject to sponsorship limitations – see page 2);
- complete and sign this form; and
- send this form to your partner before your partner lodges their application.

Your partner should:

- complete a form 47SP Application for migration to Australia by a partner; and
- if applicable, arrange for a form 47A Details of child or other dependent family member aged 18 years or over to be completed and signed by each dependent child and dependent relative of your partner who is aged 18 years or over (whether or not they are migrating with your partner).

Your partner should lodge these form(s), together with this sponsorship form, at the nearest office of the department if your partner is applying in Australia, or at the relevant Australian mission if your partner is applying outside Australia. (For the relevant office's contact details, see the department's website www.immi.gov.au/contacts/index.htm)

When you send this form to your partner, it is important that you tell them that the form 47SP, the form(s) 47A (if applicable), this sponsorship form, any supporting documentation and the visa application charge (or evidence that the charge has been paid) must be lodged together.

If your partner is applying outside Australia and you are able to demonstrate difficulty in forwarding mail to your partner, you should lodge this form at the nearest office of the department in Australia. That office will forward the sponsorship to the Australian mission nearest your partner.

Note: After your partner has lodged their partner visa application, and before a decision is made on their visa, your partner can have added to their application a dependent child who was previously not included in the application as a person migrating to Australia with your partner. In addition to your partner having to notify the department in writing of this addition, you may have to complete a new form 40SP to include that dependent child with your partner and any other family members you are sponsoring to migrate to Australia.

What documents do you need?

The department will need proof of your relationship with your partner.

It will help your partner's application if you send with this form any documents that confirm your relationship.

If you have changed your name since birth, you should also provide evidence of this.

You will also need to send evidence of your permanent resident status in Australia (for example, a certified copy of the relevant pages of your passport identifying the Australian permanent resident visa or Resident Return visa label) or proof that you are an eligible New Zealand citizen¹. An Australian citizen will need to send a certified copy of their citizenship certificate or, if Australian-born, a certified copy of their full birth certificate. If you are unsure about the documents needed to do this, contact the nearest office of the department.

You will also need to demonstrate that you will be able to meet your sponsorship obligations as undertaken by you when you complete and sign this form (see 'Your sponsorship undertaking' on the next page). The information requested on this form, including documents relating to your employment and income, will assist the decision-maker in deciding whether you are able to meet these obligations.

If you are sending copies of documents, they will need to be certified as true copies of the original by a person authorised to witness statutory declarations (for a list of prescribed persons, see 'Statutory declarations' in booklet 1, Partner Migration).

It is in your interest to provide all the documents requested with the application. Failure to do so may result in processing of the application being delayed.

¹ An eligible New Zealand citizen is one who held a Special Category Visa (SCV) on 26 February 2001; or held a SCV for at least 1 year in the 2 years preceding that date; or has a certificate, issued under the Social Security Act 1991, that states that the citizen was, for the purposes of that Act, residing in Australia on a particular date and who would have met certain health and character requirements on last entry to Australia.

Limitations on sponsorship

You should note that certain sponsorship limitations apply.

These are:

- the number of approved sponsorships/nominations² you can make is limited to 2, a minimum of 5 years apart; and
- if you were originally sponsored or nominated to Australia as a spouse, fiancé(e) or interdependent partner, you cannot sponsor a new spouse, fiancé(e) or interdependent partner for a period of 5 years from when you were sponsored.

There are some exceptions to these requirements in compelling circumstances. These include:

- if your previous spouse or partner has died;
- if your previous spouse or partner has abandoned the relationship, leaving young children; or
- if you have formed a new relationship that is long-standing.

Your sponsorship undertaking

As a sponsor for your partner's visa application to migrate to Australia, you sign a sponsorship undertaking at the end of this form.

If your partner applies for and is granted a Prospective Marriage visa, as sponsor you will be responsible for all financial obligations to the Commonwealth that your partner might incur during the period he/she is in Australia.

If your partner applies for and is granted a Spouse or Interdependency visa, as sponsor you agree to provide adequate accommodation and financial assistance as required to meet your partner's reasonable living needs. If your partner is applying outside Australia, this assistance would cover their first 2 years in Australia. If your partner is applying in Australia, this assistance would cover the 2 years following the grant of his/her partner visa. You are also required to provide financial and other support, such as childcare, that will enable your partner to attend appropriate English classes.

By signing the undertaking, you will also be agreeing to provide information and advice to help your partner settle in Australia. This information and advice should include telling your partner about employment in Australia.

It is important that your partner and their dependants understand that a good standard of spoken and written English is essential if they want to work in Australia. Without these skills, it will be very difficult for them to gain employment at a level commensurate with their job skills and qualifications. They should therefore assess their own employment prospects in Australia, whether or not they intend to work immediately.

² Prior to 1 July 2002, persons who applied in Australia for migration to Australia as a partner, were 'nominated' by their partner. Those who applied outside Australia were 'sponsored'. Approved sponsorships or nominations are those which resulted in a visa being granted to the applicant.

Assurance of Support

After your partner has lodged their partner visa application, the department may ask them to request another person to provide an Assurance of Support (AoS) on their behalf. This would be done if your partner is assessed as being a potentially high user of the Australian welfare system during their first 2 years in Australia, or the 2 years following grant of your partner's visa if your partner is applying in Australia. As well as your partner's circumstances, your ability to support your partner (and any other dependants included in the application) may be taken into account by the decision-maker in deciding whether to request an AoS. Some of the information given by you on this form may be used for this.

What is an Assurance of Support?

An AoS is an undertaking to provide financial support to the person or persons applying to migrate so that the migrant will not have to rely on any government forms of support.

It is also a legal commitment by a person to repay to the Australian Government certain recoverable social security payments made by Centrelink to those covered by the assurance.

As sponsor, you are not required to act as the assurer if you are not in a financial position to qualify. Generally, a person who has received the full rate of any pension, benefit or allowance (other than family payments) from Centrelink during the last year will not qualify as an assurer. Another person who is an Australian citizen or permanent resident or eligible New Zealand citizen¹ who is usually resident in Australia and aged 18 years or over can act as the assurer.

Although it is the department that decides whether or not an AoS is required, Centrelink has responsibility for assessing all AoS applications. For more information about the AoS scheme, see Fact sheet 34 at www.immi.gov.au/facts/34aos.htm

If your partner needs to lodge an AoS, the proposed assurer will need to contact Centrelink about application procedures.

About the information you give to the department

The department is authorised to collect information relevant to an application for sponsorship under Part 2 of the Migration Act 1958 'Control of Arrival and Presence of Non-Citizens'. The information collected will be used for assessing your eligibility to meet the sponsorship requirements and any other migration requirements that you and/or the person you are sponsoring must meet as set down in the Migration Regulations.

The information collected might also be disclosed to agencies who are authorised to receive information relating to adoption, border control, business skills, citizenship, education, health assessment, health insurance, health services, law enforcement, payment of pensions and benefits, taxation, review of decisions and registration of migration agents.

The information collected, including the results of any tests for Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV), will be used to assess your eligibility as a New Zealand citizen to sponsor your partner. A positive HIV or other test result will not necessarily lead to your partner's visa application being refused. Your results may be disclosed to the relevant Commonwealth, State and Territory health agencies.

The department has authority under the Migration Act 1958 to collect a range of personal identifiers from non-citizens, including visa applicants, in certain circumstances. For more detailed information, you should read information form 1243i Your personal identifying information, which is available from the department's website www.immi.gov.au/forms_booklets/index.htm or from any departmental office or Australian mission overseas.

The collection, access, storage, use and disclosure by the department of the information you provide in this form is governed by the Privacy Act 1988 and, in particular, by the 11 Information Privacy Principles. The information form 993i Safeguarding your personal information, gives details of agencies to which your personal information might be disclosed. This form is available on the department's website www.immi.gov.au/forms_booklets/index.htm or from any departmental office or Australian mission overseas.

Form 1071i Health requirement for permanent entry to Australia provides additional information on Australia's visa health requirements. This form is available from the department's website www.immi.gov.au/forms_booklets/index.htm or from any departmental office or Australian mission overseas.

Note: Under section 234 of the Migration Act 1958 (the Act), you may be prosecuted for deliberately providing false or misleading information to the department.

Obtaining information about you from other agencies and organisations

Under section 56 of the Act, the department may seek information about you that is relevant to your sponsorship application from other agencies and organisations. The agencies/organisations may include:

- federal, state or territory government agencies;
- federal, state or territory law enforcement agencies;
- state or territory housing authorities (including private landlords);
- local government authorities;
- financial institutions;
- educational institutions;
- private businesses (including telecommunication and internet service providers, insurance companies); and
- any other relevant businesses or agencies.

Authorisation of a person to receive only written communications

You may authorise another person to receive all written communications about your sponsorship with the department. That person will be known as your authorised recipient. To do this, you will need to complete Part H Options for receiving written communications and Part I Authorised recipient details in this form. The authorised recipient will need to sign at Part J Authorised recipient consent. You can only appoint one authorised recipient at any time. The department will communicate with the most recently appointed authorised recipient.

The department is required under section 494D of the Act to send your authorised recipient any written communications relating to your sponsorship that would otherwise have been sent to you (but a copy of that communication may also still be sent to you). If your authorised recipient agrees to it at Part J, this communication may take place by fax or e-mail.

The department will send your authorised recipient only information that you are entitled to receive. For example, if you are a visa applicant and have a sponsor, your authorised recipient will not receive personal information about your sponsor, unless your sponsor also appointed the same authorised recipient.

If you decide to change your nominated authorised recipient after you have lodged this sponsorship, you must promptly advise the department in writing. You may use form 1231 Appointment of authorised recipient for this purpose, which is available from the department's website www.immi.gov.au/forms_booklets/index.htm or from any office of the department or Australian mission.

Authorisation of a migration agent to act on your behalf

If you have a migration agent acting on your behalf in relation to your sponsorship, you need to complete Part H Options for receiving written communications and Part K Agent details. The migration agent will need to sign at Part L Agent consent.

Appointing a migration agent to act on your behalf includes authorising the department to:

- discuss your sponsorship with the migration agent and seek further information from them; and
- send your migration agent any written communications about your sponsorship that would otherwise have been sent to you.

Note: Your migration agent will be your authorised recipient for written communication under section 494D of the Act and you will be taken to have received any documents sent to them.

If you change your agent or end his/her appointment after you have lodged this sponsorship, you must promptly advise the department in writing, preferably by using form 956 Appointment of migration agent, which is available on the department's website www.immi.gov.au/forms_booklets/index.htm or from your migration agent.

The department will communicate with your migration agent about your sponsorship, including your personal information such as health, police checks, financial viability and personal relationships. If your migration agent authorises it at Part L, this communication may take place by fax or by e-mail.

The department will send your migration agent only information that you are entitled to receive. For example, if you are a visa applicant and have a sponsor, your agent will not receive personal information about your sponsor, unless your sponsor has also appointed the same migration agent.

In some situations, departmental staff will need to speak with you directly rather than with your migration agent. For example, if you are applying for a visa, the department may interview you. In some situations, the department will also send documents to you directly (for example, your passport) instead of to your migration agent, but it will inform your migration agent that it has done so.

If you have appointed a migration agent to act for you, you are still responsible for the accuracy of information and supporting documentation that you give to your migration agent to forward to the department.

When you provide details of your migration agent, please make sure you include their 7-digit:

- migration agent registration number (if they are a registered migration agent); or
- offshore agent ID number (if they have been allocated one by the department).

Note: Migration agents who operate overseas do not need to be registered. However, they may have been allocated an ID number by the department.

Using a migration agent

You are not required to use a migration agent. However, if you use a migration agent, the department encourages you to use a registered migration agent. Registered agents are bound by the Migration Agents Code of Conduct, which requires them to act in the lawful best interests of their clients and act professionally.

A list of registered migration agents is available from the Migration Agents Registration Authority (MARA) website.

You can contact the MARA at:

E-mail: themara@themara.com.au

PO Box Q1551
QVB NSW 1230
AUSTRALIA

Telephone: 61 2 9299 5446

Fax: 61 2 9299 8448

Website: www.themara.com.au

The MARA investigates complaints against registered migration agents and may take disciplinary action against them. If you have a concern about a registered migration agent, you should contact the MARA. A copy of the complaint form is available from the MARA website.

Restrictions on giving immigration assistance

In Australia, anyone (including a lawyer) who uses knowledge of migration procedures to offer immigration assistance to a visa or cancellation review applicant, or a sponsor or nominator must be registered, unless exempted from registration requirements by law. There are serious criminal penalties under Part 3 of the Act for breaching the law, including possible imprisonment if the unregistered person asks for, or receives, a fee or reward for their services.

Using an agent exempted from registration

Certain people, such as officials, parliamentarians, diplomats, close family members (that is, only your spouse, child, adopted child, parent, brother or sister) or sponsors and nominators, are able to provide you with immigration assistance as long as they do not ask or receive a fee or reward. If you wish to appoint an 'exempted agent', you must complete form 956 Appointment of migration agent (which is available on the department's website www.immi.gov.au/forms_booklets/index.htm) and attach it to this sponsorship form.

Notification of giving immigration assistance

Under section 312A of the Act, a registered migration agent has a duty to notify the department when lodging an application on behalf of a client, or within 28 days of commencing to act on behalf of a sponsor. This notification can be done by completing, and your agent signing, the relevant sections of this sponsorship form.

The Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS)

Application assistance is provided to eligible applicants and sponsors in Australia to prepare, lodge and present applications for visas. Assistance and advice is funded by the Commonwealth at no cost to the applicant or sponsor and is delivered by service providers throughout Australia. Information on eligibility can be found in Fact sheet 63 Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme. The fact sheet is available from the department's website www.immi.gov.au/facts/index.htm or from any departmental office.

Consent to communicate electronically

The department may use a range of means to communicate with you. However, electronic means such as fax or e-mail will only be used if you indicate your agreement to receiving communication in this way.

To process your application the department may need to communicate with you about sensitive information, for example, health, police checks, financial viability and personal relationships. Electronic communications, unless adequately encrypted, are not secure and may be viewed by others or interfered with. If you agree to the department communicating with you by electronic means, the details you provide will only be used by the department for the purpose for which you have provided them, unless there is a legal obligation or necessity to use them for another purpose, or you have consented to use for another purpose. They will not be added to any mailing list.

The Australian Government accepts no responsibility for the security or integrity of any information sent to the department over the internet or by other electronic means.

If you authorise another person to receive documents on your behalf and they wish to be contacted electronically, their signature is required on the form to indicate their consent to this form of communication. You may use form 1231 Appointment of authorised recipient for this purpose. This form is available from the department's website www.immi.gov.au/forms_booklets/index.htm or from any departmental office or Australian mission overseas.
